

Gregory T. Everson, MD

Professor of Medicine

Division of Gastroenterology and Hepatology

Department of Internal Medicine

University of Colorado Denver

Anschutz Medical Campus

Director, Hepatology

University of Colorado Hospital

Aurora, CO

Education

- MD, Weill-Cornell Medical College of Cornell University, New York, New York, 1976

Training

- Fellowship, Gastroenterology, University of Colorado School of Medicine, Denver, Colorado
- Residency, Internal Medicine, Creighton University School of Medicine, Omaha, Nebraska
- Internship, Internal Medicine, Creighton University School of Medicine, Omaha, Nebraska

Specialty Boards through American Board of Internal Medicine

- Transplant Hepatology
- Gastroenterology
- Internal Medicine

Expertise

- Viral Hepatitis
- Liver Transplantation
- Noninvasive Measurement of Liver Function
- Polycystic Liver Disease
- Mechanisms of Gallstone Formation

Summary of Experience

Dr Everson's interests encompass the treatment of viral hepatitis, mechanisms of cholesterol gallstone formation, hepatic cholesterol metabolism, metabolic complications of liver transplantation, and quantification of liver function in humans. He has contributed more than 700 original manuscripts, reviews, chapters, abstracts, presentations, and editorials in various scientific meetings and journals, including The New England Journal of Medicine, Hepatology, Gastroenterology, Liver Transplantation, and most major textbooks on liver diseases. He has served on the editorial boards of numerous journals and is a member of several professional societies and boards.